FRENCH REVOLUTION

"THE MOVEMENT"

Blog   :

Enlightenment all started the French Revolution. The Enlightenment was a movement during the 1600's and 1700's that applied observation and reason to human affairs. Enlightenment ideas inspired some French people to demand a voice in government. But, King Louis the XVI, refused to give up his powers. Later on, a mob stormed the Bastille, a Paris prison. This marked the French Revolution. This was a huge political movement the removed the King from his power which formed a republic. The Revolution took a brutal turn and was called the "Reign of terror."
